SENATE COMMITTEE HEARS ONE STORY AS TO RECENT SLUMP.

ANOTHER TALE RELATED

Ohio Legislature Hears Another-Other Washington News of Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., March 14.—The unusual drop of six cents in the price of butter controlled by the Elgin board of trade, last January, was due to the straining of the market to the highest point and the consequent large purchases by consumers of cheaper storage butter, according to James P. Oyster, a Washington butter dealer, who testified today before the senate on the high cost of living.

Another Story. Cincinnati, Ohio, March 14.—Testifying before the Ohio legislative committee today Nathan Longfellow, a member of the Cincinnati Produce Exchange, told the committee that the Elgin, Ill. butter quotation are "bogus"; that they were "not regulated by the laws of supply and demand, and as a consequence for fifteen years the people of Cincinnati had been duped out of five to sixteen cents a pound on butter."

The North Dakota coal rate law of 1907 was today held constitutional by the supreme court of the United States despite the claim of the railroad that the law requires the transportation of coal below the cost of service.

Statehood Bill. The Arizona and New Mexico statehood bills were reported to the senate today from the committee on territories by Senator Beveridge, who said it was an entire substitute for the house bill.

Named by Taft. The president today nominated Walter L. Lillie to be collector of customs of the district of Michigan.

Made Assistant. William S. Kenyon of Fort Dodge, Iowa has been chosen by the president as assistant to Attorney General Wade H. Ekin, who resigned that position to accept the chairmanship of the Ohio republican committee.

SUPERIOR DEMANDS IMPROVED SERVICE

Commercial Club Attempts to Secure Better Connections With Southern Wisconsin.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Superior, Wis., March 14.—An effort will be made here to secure still better train service from Superior to Madison, Milwaukee and other southern Wisconsin cities. The Omaha a couple of years ago put on a second Chicago train and now both evening trains out of here have a heavy business. The time card is what local people object to, however. There is no convenient way to work connections so that Madison, for instance, can be reached at any other time than between 3 and 4 in the morning. The two trains leave at such time that when they reach that part of the state they are less than an hour apart. It is believed that the installation of Chicago service by the Soo line this summer will result in relieving the situation, but the Commercial club will probably ask the Omaha line to make the change without waiting for competition to compel a change in the situation.

STANDARD OIL CASE BEFORE HIGH COURT

Attorney General Wickersham Appeared Before Supreme Tribunal in Suit for Dissolution.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., March 14.—Attorney General Wickersham appeared in the supreme court of the United States today to conduct the final arguments for the government in the suit before the supreme tribunal for the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company. It is expected that the arguments will be concluded some time during the present week. The case will then be taken under advisement by the court and the decision, which is fraught with such important consequences to the world of finance, industry and politics alike, will be rendered later.

The suit has been brought before the court of last resort by the Standard Oil company on appeal from the United States circuit court, sitting at St. Louis, where a decision in favor of the government was handed down. The great legal battle between the government and the great oil corporation has been in the courts for nearly four years. HEARING OF SAYLER MURDER CASE OPENS

In the Iroquois County Court at Watkinson, Ill. With Judge Dill on the Bench.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Watkinson, Ill., March 14.—The much discussed Sayler murder case was called for trial today in the Iroquois county court, with Judge Dill on the bench. No criminal case in the history of this county has ever attracted more attention and the trial promises to be a notable one.

The defendants in the case are Dr. William Miller, John Grunden and Lucy Sayler, indicted for the murder of John Byron Sayler, the husband of Mrs. Sayler, Grunden was the father-in-law of the alleged victim of the tragedy. Sayler was killed in his own house on the night of July 1 last by a pistol shot said to have been fired by Dr. Miller. The killing is said to have resulted from the discovery by Sayler of an alleged infidelity between his wife and the physician. The latter, in self-defense after Sayler had attacked him with a hatchet. The prosecution, on the other hand, will endeavor to prove that the killing was the result of a conspiracy between Dr. Miller, Mrs. Sayler and the latter's father. All parties concerned were prominent citizens of Crescent City, where the tragedy occurred. The slain man was well known throughout this section of Illinois as a banker and live stock broker. Dr. Miller, who has a wife and family, formerly resided in Pennsylvania.

ENGLISH RACING SEASON OPENED

Four American Horses Are Entered in the $10,000 Mile Handicap at Lincoln.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, March 14.—The English flat racing season was opened today in Lincoln, 138 miles north of London. The place of resistance of the meeting will be decided tomorrow. This is the mile handicap, worth $10,000 which has for nearly a century been the first important race of the year. After January 1, when the entries are made, the Lincolnshire handicap is always a popular medium of speculation, and all of the starters who are expected to show up tomorrow have been heavily backed.

Four American horses are engaged in the handicap—L. Whinn's Sir Martin, Harry Payne Whitney's Delorum and Porcus III, and August Belmont's Norman III. Sir Martin has the honor of next to top weight with 123 pounds, seven less than the weight allotted to Dean Swift at the head of the list.

The Lincoln meeting will last up to Wednesday, when the racing will be transferred to Liverpool to finish the week. There the Spring cup is a feature, but it is entirely overshadowed by the Grand National Steeplechase, which is set down for next Friday. With the exception of the Derby the Grand National attracts the biggest crowd of any race in the world. The distance is four and one-half miles and the number of obstacles to be crossed thirty-two. The Astor, Keene and Whinn's stables will be represented in the race this year.

Chicago & North Western FREIGHT ENGINES REQUIRE REPAIRS

Necessity of Keeping Locomotives on the Road Constantly Lessens Their Efficiency.
Nearly every freight engine entering Janesville, but more especially those on the Madison Division, is beginning to show the effects of hard and continuous service. Since the freight rush began last fall, through a hard and real old fashioned winter, every available engine has been kept on the road, dragging every pound possible. Unless an engine were absolutely unfit for service, minor repairs have not been allowed to keep them in the home. Consequently the motive power has fallen below standard and failures are becoming more and more frequent.

Up to the present time the new class "2" engines, although not especially popular with the engine crews, have proved the road's salvation. They have consistently hauled an enormous amount of freight, even in the heavy snow. Since the cold weather disappeared, they have been doing even more work, the summer rating south from Janesville being 50 tons more than that of the "1's". One of the big road hogs carried 2300 tons into the south yards last Saturday from Madison.

It is hoped that the company will soon realize the necessity of placing more engines in service. There has hardly been a time since last fall that the local yards have been clear and this condition, in spite of the hardest work, prevails at the present time.

WANT NEW KIND OF LEAD PENCIL WOOD

Department of Agriculture Conducting Experiments With That End in View.

Recent conference of representatives of the Department of Agriculture with several lead-pencil manufacturers have resulted in plans for testing new woods to find out whether they can be used in the pencil industry. According to some of the manufacturers, the supply of red cedar, which furnishes practically all the wood for the annual output of some 225,000,000 pencils, will be exhausted within five years. A substitute must be found which will whittle easily, which shall contain a large amount of material free of knots, which shall not be porous, nor spongy, nor unduly hard, and which shall occur in sufficient quantities to meet the manufacturer's demand.

In view of this and at the suggestion of the pencil makers, the Forest Service is co-operating in a test of a number of National Forest Woods. Among those to be tried are Rocky Mountain red cedar, aligator juniper, western juniper, redwood, incense cedar, western cedar, Port Orford cedar, and Alaska cypress. Wood specimens collected from the National Forests will be sent to four leading manufacturers, who have agreed to make pencils of them. The manufacturers will keep a record of the tests and report to the Forest Service the results, as well as their judgment as to the fitness of the individual woods.

The Forest Service is watching in this experiment because there are on the National Forests large quantities of junipers and cedars which may be suitable for pencil manufacture. For several of these woods no very valuable use has yet been discovered. For esters believe that in the future the woods from the National Forests may, to a considerable extent, come into use to supplement the diminishing stock of eastern woods, the supply of which has received no protection.

MRS. PANKHURST'S MISSION

British Suffragette Leader Warmly Welcomed in This Country.

Mrs. Emmeline Goulden Pankhurst is the leader of the militant wing of the British suffragettes, and she came to this country recently to tell the true story of the manner in which the campaign is being carried on in England. She was received with open arms by the leading suffragists in America and given an ovation at all of her lectures.

It was Mrs. Pankhurst who made the first suffragette banner with her own hands and worked on it the novel legend "Votes For Women." Then Annie Kenny, a very pretty factory girl, and Christabel Pankhurst proceeded to a Liberal meeting, Annie carrying the banner and Mrs. Pankhurst's daughter holding her disengaged hand to inspire courage. Asking questions in meeting is a good old English custom, but until that time they had been asked by men only. Annie and Christabel began to ask questions and insisted on receiving answers.

Nor did these determined young suffragettes cease to ask questions until the stewards surrounded them, tore off their hats and put their hands over the persistent mouths. They were then put into the street, where they proceeded to hold an indignation meeting. A great crowd had assembled, and there were some expressions of sympathy, but a good deal more ridicule. Finally the police appeared on the scene and arrested the young enthusiasts and landed them, banner and all, in prison. The charge was obstructing the police, and the absurdity of the accusation set all England in an uproar of mirth.

That was the real beginning of the suffragette campaign in England, and since that time Mrs. Pankhurst has been the acknowledged leader of the movement. Her theory of militant activity to secure to women her rights has been put into practice with remarkable energy and has almost won a revolution in British politics. One of her most forcible schemes has been to fill the houses of parliament with deputations of women bearing monster petitions.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a woman of charming personality. In her youth she was regarded as the most beautiful woman in England, and today she is acknowledged to be one of the cleverest. By her own untold efforts she has managed to give her four sons a university education and start them in their professional careers. She is highly optimistic and believes that her battle against British conservatism is practically won.

"It is only a few stupid, obstinate old men in the government who are against us," she declares. "We have got the government cornered. It is like a game of chess. If they decide that women have no rights we are waiting for that decision, ninety of us."

"Will they try forcible feeding on ninety of us? They will find it difficult. If this government lives to another session another deputation will go to petition—the biggest delegation yet. There will be women of science, law, philanthropy and religion from the length and breadth of the land, and not a woman but is willing to face fasting and even death to force the government to action. We are willing to be prisoners for life, to lose citizenship for life, if they will give the franchise to the peaceful women. They had better do it now, before worse things come. We have pleaded and got nothing. Now we are fighting, and we are going to win."

Gardens by School Children.

School garden work by the school children of Philadelphia under the direction of the board of education of that city has proved a great success. Wherever a back yard or a plot of ground had been uncultivated there is now a beauty spot. The children entered upon the work with wonderful enthusiasm during the past summer, with the result that there will be more juvenile gardeners and florists next year than there will be vacant plots or back yards. The idea is elevating, healthful and instructive for the children and tends to make the city attractive. More than 2,000 beauty spots were created in the city by this idea in the summer just passed.

METHOD OF CONNECTING PIPE

Method of Connecting Pipe.

It is to be connected, says a writer in Scientific American. With pencil flat against the side of pipe 1, as in illustration, trace off the curve on pipe 2. Leaving about one inch margin, cut out a disk, slit the margin back to the line as at 4, and turn up the tangs 5. Force the end of pipe 1 through the opening, and trace off the curve of pipe 2. Withdraw pipe 1, cut off the end as marked. Now fit the pipe 1 into place with the tangs 5 on the inside, and bend the tangs up to a tight fit. If carefully executed, the joint will be sufficiently tight for all purposes.

To hold the pipes rigidly together, punch small holes through the opposite sides with a sharp punch, and put in a piece of stiff wire 6. Bend the ends of the wire on the outside. The wire should pass through the tangs on the inside.

PAPER CUPS FOR DRINKING

Aseptic Cups So Simply Constructed That There is Little Difference Between Them.

Several varieties of paper drinking cups have recently been placed on the market.

While varying somewhat in appearance, these aseptic cups are necessarily so simply constructed that there is little difference between them. They are so inexpensive as to be accessible to any schoolchild, and are practical for business men and travelers, for when folded, the cup is easily slipped into a vest-pocket or a lady's purse.

One cup is made of heavy, waterproof paper, pressed to resemble alligator skin. Two pieces of the paper, cut a little wider at one end than at the other, and pasted together at sides and bottom with flaps make a perfectly flat cup.

A more elaborate one comes in a sealed envelope. It is made of heavy, transparent paper, rendered water-tight by a coating of paraffine. Around the top runs a slender wire, a loop of which forms the handle. The bottom of the cup is a round bit of cardboard covered by the paraffine treated paper. When not in use, the wire rim is flattened, bringing the sides together, and the bottom is folded up toward the handle, which closes down over it, keeping the cup flat. This cup holds as much as an ordinary tumbler, yet when folded it is only 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 inches and it is not an eighth of an inch in thickness.

What a Grand Thing Memory Is..

In ancient times the Egyptians erected great pyramids to the memories of their departed kings. Today those same pyramids stand as wonders to the civilized world, preserving still the memories of the ancient kings.

In modern times, great works of art, in granite and other stone, and works more simple in design, are erected to preserve the memory of those gone beyond—and these marks of affection will remain for ages.

In the spring of the year the placing of Monuments is most frequent and it is advisable to place orders now for work of this nature.

HOW TO Save Money 730 TIMES A YEAR

If you own milk cows you are doubtless milking some of them twice a day every day in the year.

If you are doing this without a De Laval cream separator to save all the butter-fat in its best possible condition and at same time have the sweet warm skimmed milk for calves and pigs you are losing money exactly 730 times a year.

That is the simple truth about the De Laval cream separator. Anyone can comprehend it. Other cream separators accomplish but a part of what it will do and do not last nearly as long. Every time milk is run through a De Laval separator it saves time and money for the user. There are no ifs or ands about it. And the saving is enough to in a few months time pay the cost of the separator, with the machine still good for fifteen or twenty years.

There was never a better time or season for any cow owner to purchase a De Laval cream separator than right now. Prosperity was never greater in a dairying way. Butter values were never higher. The losses from any other manner of handling milk never amounted to so much. Moreover such losses are always greatest when the cows have been longest in lactation and the cream is hardest to separate.

Just think of a loss of from ten cents to a dollar, according to number of cows and circumstances, twice a day every day in the year, and what the saving of it amounts to in the course of a year, let alone for the fifteen to twenty years life of the separator.

Are you willing to let such a loss go? If not, why not send for a De Laval catalogue, or better still, try a De Laval separator in your own dairy. Either is free to you for the asking, from all," he says, "don't let the big crowd spoil your peace of mind. If you lose your own happiness and sense of humor in trying to reform things and regulate such of the modern trusts as work evil, then they have defeated you personally, even if your cause wins. There you will hear John R. Commons, the labor authority, tell how John Glenn, director of the Russell Sage $10,000,000 foundation, saw a man in the Pittsburgh mills who had been working twenty-four hours without a rest. That was the real beginning of the Pittsburgh survey, which tore the roof off the city and hidden overwork in the steel city. Of an evening William Henry will drop in—the ex-dean of the college of agriculture. He is the man who invented the "short course," which brought the farmer boys from all parts of Wisconsin up to the capital to learn to be better farmers—between the fall harvesting and the spring plowing. He tells how he used to preach the gospel of self-interest agriculture up in the northern counties, when every man in his audience had come to the little schoolhouse on skids, balancing with the long pole. Frederick C. Howe, the authority on municipal problems, will be describing to a sofa group how the Swiss make money and conduct a prosperous democratic government on the profits of "white coal." One of the state library commission will fill an evening with dramatic human accounts of reaching the obscure and neglected corners of the state with good literature. Some lumber town, half deserted, where the boom has died, will have a true citizen in the person of a widow with three children who is willing to be traveling librarian for her community. Day by day she will drive about in her sleigh, whose box bottom is loaded with books sent her by the state for her neighbors. Such is no touched-up picture of the University Club, whose members talk well, because they are doing loyal work.

IS NOT A WASTE.

War is not a waste. It is a harsh and crude method of settling difficulties, but it often does settle them. Better an operation than continual illness; and there come times when something drastic is necessary to settle the world's difficulties. In the same way, labor strikes, wasteful as they are, are not all waste. Unfortunately we cannot arrange to have war at the time of least inconvenience to everybody, and strikes are in the same case. Otherwise, it is almost a pity that we could not have a general national strike right now.

Nothing could be better for the ultimate peace of the capitalist, the workman and the public than that the relative strength of each of these powers should be definitely ascertained. Roughly speaking, about one-tenth of the workers of this country are unionized, and it would settle many problems if we could see whether it is really possible for 2,000,000-unionized workers, possibly representing with their families about one-tenth of the population, to dictate to the other 80,000,000 inhabitants of the United States.

Opinions differ as to whether the general strike has been made effective in Philadelphia. It is not yet successful, and its success is witnessed by the threat to extend the sympathetic strike from Philadelphia to the state of Pennsylvania, and thence to the whole country. General strikes have invariably failed elsewhere, although professional labor agitators claim that an important demonstration of the strength of union labor has in each case been achieved. We recognize the power of certain elements among genuinely useful labor unions to make an unmitigated nuisance of themselves; but what is really needed is a demonstration of union weakness.

Legislation, and some of it very ill-considered, has demonstrated that the people of the United States do not intend to be dominated by the capitalist class, and recognize that they have the power to prevent any such unwholesome oligarchy. What will remain to be established is that the people do not intend to be dominated by any class, not even the labor union class. Every decent citizen should uphold the hands of the people of Philadelphia in fighting a union attack upon the most elementary constitutional rights.

We recognize fully the iniquitous combinations of the past between corporations and politicians in Philadelphia. The principle raised in the present strike is much broader than that, and in spite of the destruction and waste, the strike may even be of great public benefit if it establishes once for all that no single interest has the power to bulldoze the whole United States.

Herbert Morgan did not die even though some of the stock exchange magnates would like to have had it true that he did. He merely laughed at the report and went on eating and breathing just like an ordinary mortal.

Fire drills in the city schools should be attended to. It is also suggested that the teachers and pupils are not told that they are to occur for it will destroy the value to be derived if this line of procedure is followed.

Today Colonel Roosevelt greets his wife and daughter on the ground made sacred to the Anglo-Saxon race by the death of Chinese Gordon. His long trip is ended and he returns to civilization a bigger man than ever.

Philadelphia has decided to act upon existing circumstances and not try and learn any lesson from past experience. There are none so blind as those who can see and will not.

Spring appears to be feeling its way to see whether we like the sample or not. Then perhaps she will step forth and decide to stay with us for a while at least.

Perhaps that Paris defaulter learned his lessons of high finance during a trip to the United States. Well, any way, he was caught just as all such foolish people are.

It is peculiar how few people there are to go to the city treasurer's office and smile when they pay their taxes.

It is lucky that President Taft did not arrive in Chicago while Minister Calhoun was being banqueted.

He's coming back from the jungle dark, with skin of beasts he shot; the kangaroo and the deadly hippopotamus; he's coming back to his native land—we hope he will come in hand, with an alligator in either hand, and a snake around his waist. O, we miss him sore as the days go by, and the weeks, so devoid of stir; for no one is making the feathers fly, or filling the air with fur; the country lingers in peace's lap, to the horror of living men, but maybe there'll be an old time scrap, when Tumbo is home again! Perhaps there will be a sleeking hunt, and a chorus of grunts and groans; perchance there will be a shower of blood, and the sound of cracking bones; so hushed back from the jungle dim, to a land that is tired of peace; so long and long for the little hymn, and the third and the shaw; great! O hush! back from the force graffe, from the trusting eye of the elephant, and the den of the lion, to the land that mourns for your martial zeal, to a land that is red with rust; we know that Tumbo will make things squeal, and stir up a row or bust.

Heart to Heart Talks.

A SUCCESS STORY.

This is a short story of success about John M. Smythe, merchant prince of Chicago.

Success stories are all alike. The bloom and flower of great promise nearly always grow out of the rich mud of poverty and narrow conditions. That is why success stories are usually alike.

The steady progress of a successful man is from beneath upward.

When Mr. Smythe died a few weeks ago he left a monument to his successful labors in the largest concern of its kind in the world.

He built the big store for $250.

That is all the money Mr. Smythe had when he started his business in a little hole in the wall on the west side. And that $250 he had saved a dime at a time.

Compelled to go to work at the age of thirteen in order to support a widowed mother and younger children, there is no gloss of romance on this tale of sordid poverty and small savings and short dinners.

Romance and modern business seldom go together.

Smythe was the pioneer in Chicago of the household installment business. Not out of philanthropy, but as a purely business proposition, he put the credit of the poor man on a par with the cash of the rich man and thus enabled tens of thousands of families to start housekeeping.

He had competitors.

But many of his would-be competitors tried to practice sharp methods. They charged all the traffic would bear. Some of them lied, cheated, deceived.

These merchants could not prosper alongside Smythe's honest methods, one price to all and big newspaper advertising. His establishment soon became a synonym for fair dealing, honesty and benevolence.

The proprietor became a several times millionaire. The Irish boy who started on $250, saved in dimes, grew rich on his expressed motto that honesty is the best policy.

And that is the only real success.

Mr. Smythe did good with his money, giving to charity and helping young men. His private life was exemplary, and his home was everything to him.

But you say no American boy can do what John M. Smythe did.

Yes, he can—if he will pay the price. The price of such success is hard work, study of business conditions, devotion to details, honesty, a cheerful spirit and liberal advertising.

RETURN OF TUMBO

He's coming back from the jungle dark, with skin of beasts he shot; the kangaroo and the deadly hippopotamus; he's coming back to his native land—we hope he will come in hand, with an alligator in either hand, and a snake around his waist. O, we miss him sore as the days go by, and the weeks, so devoid of stir; for no one is making the feathers fly, or filling the air with fur; the country lingers in peace's lap, to the horror of living men, but maybe there'll be an old time scrap, when Tumbo is home again! Perhaps there will be a sleeking hunt, and a chorus of grunts and groans; perchance there will be a shower of blood, and the sound of cracking bones; so hushed back from the jungle dim, to a land that is tired of peace; so long and long for the little hymn, and the third and the shaw; great! O hush! back from the force graffe, from the trusting eye of the elephant, and the den of the lion, to the land that mourns for your martial zeal, to a land that is red with rust; we know that Tumbo will make things squeal, and stir up a row or bust.

MR. JONES SAYS:

"No, I don't care to order from you; I understand Chicago tailors' work is all made in sweat-shops."

I SAY:

"Your objection is a good one if it were true, but personally I know that it is not. Now, I know of six wholesale tailors in Chicago who occupy skyscrapers that are fireproof and roomy—their shops are hundreds of feet above the street level and open on all sides to the Lake Michigan breezes.

"I know under exactly what conditions the garments are made for me, for the firm I deal with occupies eight floors that are 160x200 feet, open on four sides—high ceilings, pure air and real sunlight—they are daylight workers.

"I have been through these shops and there is no odor even in the spongeing and pressing departments; the vapor and steam are removed by immense exhaust fans—they work in pure oxygen—just as pure as the air you are breathing now, with the invigorating moisture of Lake Michigan added. Their shops are less than a mile from the lake shore.

"There is no sweat-shop work in the tailoring I deliver. It is high grade merchant tailoring—custom tailoring—for every tailor who handles the garment has every facility at his finger tips to make work easier so that he can deliver higher grade and more carefully finished garments—the best that money can buy anywhere. The garments I sell are made under better conditions than if they were made right here in town.

"If you give me your order, you can depend upon getting high grade, hygienically made hand tailoring that could not be purchased from the local tailor at anywhere near the same price."

Mr. Jones has another objection to my line, which I will answer in these columns in a few days. Watch for it.

Just a suggestion of perfume; a few drops of a dainty odor, will add finish to the toilet of the "Fair Graduate" that finish to the toilet of the "Fair Graduate" that can be attained in no other way. It adds more than a finish, it gives a personal suggestion of sweetness.

In regard to the quality of our perfume let us say that quality is not only our first consideration, but is the one vital point which we consider in the selection of our odors.

HORSE CASE IS ON TRIAL BEFORE JURY

Dr. G. C. Wauke seeks To Recover Damages To Rig From Collision At Milton Junction.

Before a jury the trial of the action brought by Dr. G. C. Wauke against Lizzie H. Kelly and George Stockman of Milton Junction to recover damages for injuries sustained by his horse and the destruction of the vehicle in a collision which occurred on Oct. 25, 1903. The plaintiff claims that a runaway horse belonging to the defendant and drawing one of their green delivery wagons smashed into his driving outfit while the horse was standing quietly, hitched to a post. Attorney Louis Avery and William Smith represent the plaintiff and Attorney Whitehead & Matheson appear for the defendants.

Interurban Case Dismissed.

On motion of his attorney, J. J. Cunningham, and with the understanding that the plaintiff should pay the disbursements, the action brought by Charles Fornieker to recover $1,000 damages from the Rockford & Interurban road for an assault alleged to have been committed by Conductor Orville W. Mull on Sept. 26, was today dismissed. Fornieker claimed that he was kicked, bruised, and put off the car while on the way from Janesville to Beloit. The defendant company denied all charges of rough treatment and was prepared to show that Fornieker stubbornly refused to pay his fare.

McKelvie Case Dropped.

The case of the City of Janesville vs. Patrick McKelvie was dropped on March 4 in accordance with a motion filed by City Attorney H. L. Maxwell, acting with the approval of the common council meeting as a committee of the whole. The prosecution of Mr. McKelvie on the charge of violating the liquor ordinance relating to Sunday selling on Aug. 22, was started on complaint of Mayor Wilbur F. Carlo on Aug. 23 last. At the trial in municipal court, which took place in September, the jury convicted the defendant and an appeal to circuit court was taken by his attorney, E. H. Ryan. The case was dismissed on condition that the defendant pay the costs taxed in municipal court and clerk's fees in circuit court, aggregating $14.91, which he did.

DIG ADVERTISING PAYS BIGGER, EVEN IN PROPORTION TO THE COST, THAN DOES SMALL ADVERTISING.

One well known authority goes on record for the statement that a full page advertisement is worth twenty times as much as a half page, and that a half page advertisement is worth eight times as much as a quarter page.

An instance of wonderful results from big advertising is the recent campaign of the E. Barnham Company run in this paper. The four dealers who were to redeem the coupons printed in the advertisement had made special purchases in advance, anticipating the demand, but before the day was over, their stock had been depleted. In one instance there were fully 75 calls for the goods after the stock had been exhausted. In another instance the dealer said that he could have redeemed three times as many coupons if he had the goods. Another dealer reports a surplus of 50 calls after their stock had been sold, and still another makes about the same report.

This same campaign has been tried in many other cities, but rarely has the demand been so large in proportion to the size of the field. It is accounted for by the fact that in Janesville almost 1/10th of all the homes take The Gazette, whereas in most cities less than 1/10th of the population are required to cover the field as thoroughly.

Big advertisements who spend thousands and thousands of dollars and whose experience extends over many years, know that advertising pays (in many instances better than others), but it has been their universal experience that Big Copy pays better than small copy even in proportion to the expense.

DEATH BRINGS END TO A LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Susan C. Ingersoll, Invalid For Five Years Died Saturday At Daughter's Home.

Mrs. Susan Curry Ingersoll, widow of the late Charles L. Ingersoll of De Soto, Wis., passed away Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward H. Ryan, 417 South Main street. Mrs. Ingersoll has been an invalid for the past five years and during her illness lost her eyesight. She was born in New York City January 3, 1825, the daughter of Rev. Benjamin and Susan Curry. Her father was one of six brothers, the oldest of whom was the Rev. Daniel Curry, D. D., L. L. D., and the youngest, Judge John Curry, at one time a Justice of the California Supreme Court. The deceased was married to Charles Louis Ingersoll at Shrub Oak, New York. They went to Chicago and lived there for a number of years later moving to De Soto, Wis., where they resided until the death of Mr. Ingersoll on Jan. 23, 1895. Since then Mrs. Ingersoll has made her home with her daughter in this city. During her long illness she has been cheerful and uncomplicated and has endeavored herself to large circle of friends. Besides the daughter who is survived by two grandchildren, Ward A. and Genevieve L. Ryan of this city, and two brothers and one sister. Short funeral services were held this afternoon at her late residence. Interment will be at De Soto, Tuesday.

JANESVILLE PLAYS ELKHORN THURSDAY

High School Team Will Meet Elkhorn Five to Decide Which Shall Go To Tourney.

The game between the Janesville high school team and the Elkhorn high school five to decide which will go to the Appleton basketball tournament as one of the representatives of the southern district will be played at Beloit on Thursday evening. As the contest is a match game, it must take place on a neutral floor and the Beloit college gymnasium is the place selected. It is hoped and expected that Janesville will defeat Elkhorn and go to the tournament.

In cases they secure admission to the Lawrence tourney, the local five will have had the benefit of the experience of the tournament held at Madison last week. The weak points of the lower elite squad were shown up and it is hoped that they can be remedied. A number of Janesville people who witnessed some of the Janesville games state that the team was better than either the La Crosse or the Fairbault teams in playing qualities, but they had the "wind" necessary to go through an entire game.

OPEN NIGHT AT THE Y. M. C. A. WEDNESDAY

Members of the Association Will Give Entertainment for the Public.

Wednesday evening is "open night" at the Y. M. C. A. building and on that night the members of the association will entertain for their friends and visitors. The entertainment is the first of a series of entertainments planned by the social committee with the object of bettering the acquaintance among the men and giving them an evening of wholesome fun and pleasure. A cordial invitation has been extended to the public to attend. The program for Wednesday evening as prepared by the social committee will consist of music, basketball games and gymnastic stunts. A feature of the evening will be the basketball game between the Marled Men's and Beloit's teams. There is considerable rivalry between the two forces concerning the supremacy of the basketball club. They intend to fight it out on Wednesday night. The probable lineup will be: Marled Men: D. D. Marled, C. F. Blair, M. Erickson, F. J. Holt, and H. H. Bliss. Beloit: H. S. Lovejoy, S. G. Dunwiddie, T. M. Knudson, C. G. Wolcott, H. Holmes.

The work is in charge of Frank E. Clayton, chairman of the social committee. Several committees are under his charge to make complete arrangements for the affair. They are as follows:

Entertainment: Frank Boone, chairman; Charles Atkinson, Byron Fleming, Alfred Summers, and D. C. Barker.

Advertising: Fred J. Holt, chairman; James Younghouse, and W. J. Black.

Music: Rollo Dabson, chairman; Frank Boone, and Morris Smith.

Games and cheerleading: Lynn Asplund, chairman; Morris Erickson, Earl McNeill, Harry London, and Frank Chase.

Apollo Club: A meeting of those taking part in the amateur night of the Apollo club are requested to meet Monday evening next at 7:30 o'clock at the Gazette office.

College Community House.

Tonny Hall, a community house, has been opened at Smith's college. The object of this house is to help the poorer students by reducing their living expenses to the least possible amount. The students are to be housed and fed after the principles of a socialistic community. All expenses will be shared by the occupants of the hall, who will contribute just enough per capita to run the establishment. Each girl or group of girls in turn will be called on to do the housework and cooking so that the cost of servants may be avoided. The entire system will be under the supervision of the president of the college.

THE OIL CASE BATTLE NOW ON

NATION'S SUIT TO DISSOLVE
STANDARD CORPORATION
BEGINS TODAY.

EMINENT ARRAY OF COUNSEL

Construction by Supreme Court of Sherman Anti-Trust Law Involves Future Development of Country's Commerce.

Washington, Mar. 14.—One of the greatest cases the supreme court has been called upon to consider since the foundation of the republic and to the commercial world, perhaps the most important that has come before that tribunal, was taken up for oral argument today, when the great lawyers for the government and the Standard Oil Company clashed. The array of counsel is most eminent.

Wickersham Appears in Person.
The attorney general appeared in person and directed the government's case, being assisted by Frank B. Kellogg, in the oral argument and by Charles H. Morrison and C. A. Beveridge, who, with Mr. Kellogg, prepared the case for trial before the circuit court at St. Louis.

The Standard Oil Company's lawyers include John G. Johnson of Attorney General Wickersham.

Philadelphia, John G. Milburn of New York and D. T. Watson of Pittsburgh.

The Standard Oil case, along with that brought by the American Tobacco Company which was closed several weeks ago will bring a construction by the court of last resort of the Sherman anti-trust laws eagerly awaited by the business world, because the interpretation of the law as involved in these cases will clearly establish the lawful boundaries of commercial development.

Tax Test Important.

Following the close of the oral arguments in the Standard Oil case, which will last two and perhaps three days, the supreme court will listen to oral arguments in the cases brought to test the constitutionality of the corporation tax law. There are 15 such cases.

FIREMEN GIVE AN ULTIMATUM.

If Roads Do Not Concede Rules Question Strike Will Come.

Chicago, Mar. 14.—A crisis has developed in the dispute between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and the railroad managers, representing 45 western lines.

Officers of the brotherhood declare that the men will refuse to arbitrate the question of wages unless the managers concede a point by agreeing to settle the dispute concerning two rules relative to promotion by seniority and the demand that engineers in the firemen's organization be granted the right of representation on negotiating committees.

They also announce that a strike order will be issued within a few days unless a settlement is reached on the two rules. This attitude was communicated to the railroad officials in a letter from W. S. Carter, president of the brotherhood. A reply was framed at a meeting of general managers which, in substance, is that the roads will "stand pat" against granting further concessions.

Would Curb States' Powers.

Washington, Mar. 14.—Amendments to the federal constitution which would place within federal control the regulation of the white slave traffic, conspiracies to raise prices, conservation matters, and other subjects on which there is now a conflict between the state and federal governments are proposed in a resolution presented in the house by Congressman Martin H. Madden of Illinois.

Alfonso's Son Rumored Dumb.

Madrid, Mar. 14.—Well-informed persons are discussing the painful rumor that both the speech and hearing of the little prince of the Asturias, heir to the throne, are seriously defective. The report is denied in court and government circles, and its circulation is attributed to enemies of the monarchy.

Bank Robbers Get $7,000.

Virginia, Noh, Mar. 14.—Charles Hall, cashier of the State bank of Virginia, stated that $7,000 was secured by the men who robbed the bank Friday night. The robbers escaped after exchanging shots with citizens.

SKIPPING ROPE TO RE-DUCE FLESH.

James J. Jeffries.

San Francisco, Cal.—During James Jeffries' sojourn in this city he appeared daily before great crowds in his exercising stunts. One of his specialties for reducing flesh is the rope skipping process in which Jeffries' agility was fully demonstrated. Those who have watched him say that his foot work is just as quick and his speed as great as when he was at his prime.

ARKANSAS SENATOR IN TROUBLE

At top, Senator Jeff Davis of Arkansas. Center—Senator Burton of Kansas, and below the late Senator Mitchell of Oregon.

Washington, D. C.—Senator Davis, the foe of plutocrats and enemy of "high collared roosters," may find himself defendant in criminal proceedings brought under statutes forbidding undue activity on the part of congressmen in securing legislation by which they would be peculiarly benefited.

The trouble arose when Senator Davis is alleged to have made a statement before the house committee on public lands last week which may cost him his seat in the senate. They were discussing the bill introduced by Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, quieting title of about 100,000 acres of swamp known as "sink land." The records show that Senator Davis made the following statement:

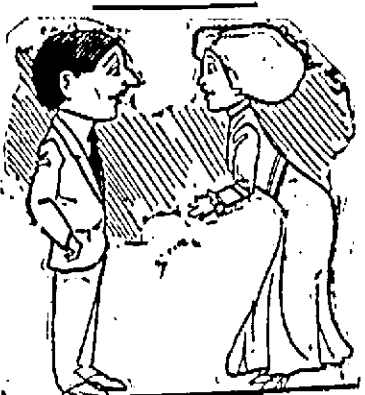

"We could not prove our title. I confess that there is just that much selfishness in it to me, because there is a good fee if I can recover the price of that timber. I do not care who it goes to, whether it goes to the state of Arkansas or the St. Francis levee board, but I would rather it should go to the St. Francis levee board, because that is just and right."

He now claims that he did not use the words attributed to him, especially by that part "because there is a good fee if I can recover the price of that timber."

"She insists on living so extravagantly that her husband won't be able to pay decent alimony."

into Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who was convicted but died before sentence was commenced.

Senator Burton was convicted and imprisoned for appearing before the postoffice department to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against a St. Louis firm which retained him as counsel. Senator Mitchell was convicted of exerting improper influence in connection with pending affairs in the general land office, but died before being finally imprisoned.

IN KEEPING.

"I am afraid Mrs. Minimus is very short-sighted," said Miss Cayenne. "What respect?"

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures
By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

The Flying Castle

THE Ticklemouse stole softly into the nursery and peeped across at Davy and Dorfy in their beds.

And how his little, beady black eyes danced with fun! For out of each small white bed stuck a wee pink foot; the twins had been so afraid they might miss Mr. Ticklemouse's visit that they hadn't wanted to take any chances.

Their midnight visitor gave a low, squeaky laugh and scuttled closer to the beds. He tickled Davy's bare foot with his soft, cool little paw, and Dorfy's with the tip of his pointed tail.

The twins sprang out of bed and ran to the window, where the Mouse was already unlimbering a big gray goose, saddled and bridled, with big blue automobile goggles on. It looked like the goose in their big Noah's Ark. "Take these goggles," said the Ticklemouse, handing each a pair and putting on his own. "We'll need them tonight, my dears."

The three sprang to the back of the great gray goose and held on tight to the saddle. Like a rocket they shot through the sky in the same direction as the night before. Soon they felt the warm summer breezes and smelled the same delicious perfume of the flowers along the highway.

Davy clapped his hands, and nearly fell off the goose. "Oh, are we going to St. Ives again tonight, Mr. Ticklemouse?"

Nothing but the sharp ears of a mouse could have heard Davy's question, for the wind was whizzing past them like a hurricane. "Oh-ho!" laughed the Mouse, his eyes twinkling. "So you guessed the name of the castle, did you? Good boy!"

"Yes," the Mouse went on, "we're going to St. Ives. I didn't want to take any chances tonight, so I brought another kind of flying machine, you see." And he patted the old goose between its whistling wings. "This fellow will land us safe inside the Enemy's walls!"

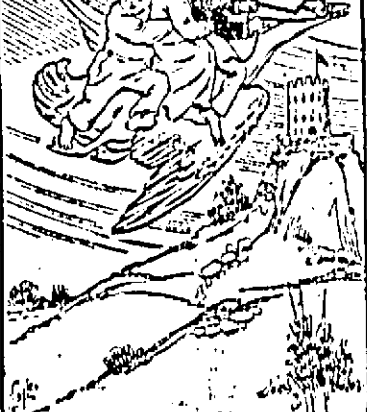

Soon the great, grim castle, on the tip-top of a rocky crag overlooking the highway, came into sight. The goose flew in a wide circle and landed them inside the castle walls among the darkest shadows. The Mouse hitched his steed to a great iron ring set into the wall.

"That's where the Enemy chain the captive Ticklemouse, just out of reach of a delicious cheese," he whispered to the twins, and they tiptoed carefully toward the rear of the great castle. The Mouse gnashed his teeth as he thought of his cousins and friends who had died in this awful place.

Outside, all was dark. Inside, they could see the great banquet hall of the castle, where hundreds of Robber Cats were feasting at a great table, blazing with bright lights.

The Mouse pulled his field glasses out and stared long at the food on the table. He drew a sharp breath of fear and his hand shook so he almost dropped the glasses, for he had seen the bones and tails of Ticklemouse in the bone dishes on the banquet table. "Let's get out of this—I've seen enough!" he groaned to the twins, and they dashed away from the terrible sight.

As they ran toward their gray goose, the ground began to shake beneath them. "An earthquake!" muttered the Mouse, dragging them along so fast that their little feet were bruised and aching. The shocks came faster and louder—the great rocky crag under their feet fairly creaking, as if some giant were chewing the castle down with his strong teeth.

And—what do you think?—when they threw themselves flat on the edge of the rock and looked down toward the highway below, that was just what they saw!

A giant rat, with teeth so long and white that they looked bigger than an elephant's tusks, was madly gnawing at the rock, and the castle was beginning to sway and totter!

The Mouse threw the twins on to the goose's back and they rose into the air, just in time. For with frightful yowls and caterwauls, the Robber Cats came tumbling out of the castle, scared almost to death. Well might they fear—for their great castle, rock and all, suddenly rose and flew through the air as if alive. There was a tremendous splash as it landed in the sea, far beyond the highway—cries and screams from the terrified Robber Cats.

Then all was still. The twins looked at the Ticklemouse. He was very sober as he put spurs to the goose and drove far out over the sea, before heading homeward.

All three looked down at the seashore. The giant was standing with arms folded, looking at the ripples showing where the Robber Castle of St. Ives had sunk in the sea.

Davy and Dorfy saw with surprise that he was enough like the Ticklemouse to be his brother—only that he was so big. His eyes were not so kind, and his muscles stood out as a giant's muscles should.

The Mouse was very thoughtful, all the way home. Davy hardly dared speak to him, even after the twins were safe in their beds. But Dorfy just couldn't hold in.

"Who was he, Mr. Ticklemouse? Who was that giant mouse?"

The Ticklemouse's voice shook. "Goliath, Tickler, dearie—my second-cousin. And do you know why he destroyed the Robber Cats' castle?"

"Because," said the Ticklemouse sadly, "because they had captured his boy—his own little boy, and starved him to death in that awful castle. But—they'll never carry off another Ticklemouse boy!"

He untied the goose and climbed into saddle. "Well, it's all over—and I'm glad!"

And as he disappeared into the moonlit sky, the sleepy twins heard him singing in his squeaky voice—

"For mice who venture near St. Ives Are lucky if they save their lives!"

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jamesville Daily Gazette, March 14, 1870.—Jottings.—The Democrats have had several meetings on the city, we are informed, to devise ways and means to elect a mayor after their own heart. They evidently believe that an early bird catches the worm. So far they are not quite unanimous in favor of one candidate, although it is said that several gentlemen are unanimously in favor of themselves.

Twenty-eight years ago today twelve varieties of wild flowers were gathered in the vicinity of Jamesville and sent to Milwaukee. On election day of the same year grass a foot high was cut from the farm of Mr. H. M. Rockwood, three miles north of Elkhorn.

INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, HEADACHE AND GAS ON STOMACH WILL VANISH

A little Diapiesin makes your out-of-order stomach feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, indigestion, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Diapiesin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Diapiesin trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapiesin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will need no resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapiesin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranked about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

PHILADELPHIA UNIONS TO EXTEND STRIKE

All Unionists Must Come Out by Midnight Monday or Be Ostracized.

Philadelphia, Mar. 14.—By a resolution adopted by the Central Labor union all union labor men in the city were ordered to join the general strike by midnight to-night or be ostracized from union labor.

This move came as a bombshell into the camp. It had been believed that the Central Labor union, satisfied with its position, would stand pat and wait for the agreement between the Rapid Transit Company and its employees.

The call, if generally obeyed, means that Philadelphia will begin to feel the real pinch of a general strike.

This move is particularly directed against the brewery workers, the bakers and the printers, three powerful union bodies which up to date have played the part of spectators in the affair. These men stand upon the ground, that they, as members of international bodies, have no right to go out on a strike without the sanction of their governing bodies, which up to date, they have not received.

At the same meeting all union men possessing bank accounts were instructed to withdraw their money from the local banking institutions. The labor leaders hope by this move to still further inconvenience the power which is at battle with them.

SYMPATHY STRIKES UNLAWFUL.

Federal Court Decides Against United Mine Workers of America.

Richmond, Va., Mar. 14.—Sympathy strikes are unlawful, according to a decision handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals, sustaining a recent injunction issued by Judge Dayton of West Virginia. The case was that of the Hittman Coal and Coke Company against the United Mine Workers of America. The company alleged that on April 1, 1906, a strike was inaugurated by the employees of the mine without provocation in response to a call issued by the United Mine Workers of America, who designed to compel coal operators in other sections to accede to their demands.

The injunction, which is made permanent by the decision, restrains the union from interfering with employees of the company in any manner whatsoever.
